

TURNING POINTS:

How Young People in Four Career Pathways Programs Describe the Relationships that Shape Their Lives

National & Community Partner
Digital Media Toolkit

Elizabeth Pufall Jones, Sean Flanagan, Jonathan F. Zaff, Craig McClay,
Shannon Varga, Miriam Rollock, Michelle Hynes, and Marissa Cole

For the release of Turning Points: How Young People in Four Career Pathways Programs Describe the Relationships that Shape Their Lives, we encourage conversation about how relationships and webs of support can help young people develop the capacity to navigate and negotiate their path to success.

You can find the report at <http://www.americaspromise.org/report/youth-relationships-and-career-readiness>.

Please join the conversation by using the hashtags #YouthOppFund and #Pathways2Progress

NEWSLETTER BLURB

Turning Points: How Young People in Four Career Pathways Programs Describe the Relationships that Shape Their Lives

Download the latest research study, Turning Points, from the Center for Promise at America's Promise Alliance, supported by the Citi Foundation as part of its Pathways to Progress initiative. Researchers asked youth participants enrolled in four career pathways programs how the relationships that surround them influenced their development. Using young people's own words, this report illuminates the ways that significant people in program participants' lives helped them construct webs of support. It also demonstrates what kinds of support young people need at different turning points in their lives.

Learn more about major findings from Turning Points.

REPORT PROMOTION

Facebook/LinkedIn

Download Turning Points, a new report written by the Center for Promise at America's Promise that illuminates the ways that significant people in program participants' lives helped them construct webs of support. It also demonstrates what kinds of support young people need at different turning points in their lives. <http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund #Pathways2Progress

In the latest Center for Promise report, supported by the Citi Foundation as part of its Pathways to Progress initiative, Turning Points asks youth enrolled in four Youth Opportunity Fund career pathways programs how the relationships that surround them influence their development.

<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund #Pathways2Progress

Shareable Graphics

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD

Twitter

NEW REPORT: Turning Points via @Center4Promise @BU_SED, supported by @Citi Fdn
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund #Pathways2Progress

Download the new report Turning Points via @Center4Promise, supported by @Citi Fdn
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund #Pathways2Progress

.@Center4Promise report supported by @Citi Fdn, analyzes webs of support for youth. #YouthOppFund
#Pathways2Progress <http://bit.ly/YOFReport2>

A new @Center4Promise report highlights how #CaringAdults help youth develop webs of support.
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund

A Web of Support is a network of relationships youth have w/ #CaringAdults & peers.
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund #Pathways2Progress

Learn how youth in @UrbanAlliance @YearUpBayArea @PerScholas @cafemomentum build webs of support. <http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund

Understanding what #youth say about their webs of support can strengthen career pathways programs.
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund

How can we #Recommit2Kids & prepare them? Build social supports into career pathways programs.
<http://bit.ly/YOFReport2> #YouthOppFund